For the past few weeks, we've been reading Hatchet by Gary Paulsen. After crashing his plane in the Canadian wilderness, Brian Robeson must survive by using the resources around him and his hatchet. He manages to acquire nourishment, construct tools, and finally finagle his rescue 54 days later. Challenge: Imagine that Brian decides to return to Canada to have his fourteenth birthday party ...

A realisation the character also comes to closer to the books' ending, when he almost loses it on his quest to retrieve a survival kit from the re-emerged plane wrack. Without the hatchet, he couldn't have achieved anything; the hatchet is him. With this tool, he not only builds a shelter, crafts spears, bow and arrows for hunting, but also manages to make fire by catching sparks from hacking away at a rock.
